'Baby Face' Nelson's 'Number Is Up'
John Dillinger was "as tough as they come." "Pretty Boy" Floyd was another "hard guy." Federal agents shot him down. Now it is "Baby Face" Nelson whose "number is up." Two government officers have already given their lives in an attempt to effect Nelson's capture. So the present order is "Get your man"—and that order spells death for "Baby Face."

BABY FACE NELSON FOUND SHOT DEAD

Washington, Nov. 28—Attorney-General Cummings today announced that "Baby Face" Nelson was found shot to death in Niles Center, Ill., 15 miles northeast of Chi-

KILLING SLAYER KILLED IN DUEL WITH 'BABY FACE' NELSON

religious brothers there, who said they had recognized him from newspaper pictures.

They said they did not have time to telephone the police before Nelson sped away in the car. They also said they were unable to see if there were any other persons in the car.

The incident, held in Elgin, Ill., on the death of Cowley, resulted in the coroner's jury recommending the government seize Nelson's car, in finding the killer of the federal agent.

Cowley, one of the federal government's top men-hunters, died early today in an Elgin hospital from wounds inflicted in the gun battle with Nelson.

Holles met Nelson instantly in the shower of bullets that died early today in an Elgin hospital from wounds inflicted in the gun battle with Nelson.

An unidentified companion unobserved in a brief, but furious, gun battle.

Deadly Vengeance for Dillinger Slayer

Even as he lay dying, it was disclosed by Department of Justice agents that Cowley was the real leader in the federal drive that brought down the notorious Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd in an Ohio cornfield last month. Department of Justice agents disclosed that Holles was reported to have fired one of the bullets that killed Dillinger in front of a North Side movie theater last July.

That Nelson, the nation's public enemy No. 1, took deadly vengeance for the slaying of Dillinger, but in so doing he signed his own death warrant for federal agents carried on a relentless search for him with orders to shoot first.

In addition to all the power the Department of Justice could concentrate in this area, half of the 200 detectives of the Chicago police force were called into the hunt for the baby-faced killer.

For hours after the new outbreak of warfare between the government and the remnants of the Dillinger gang, the police combed the "badlands" of the city, striking here and there for a clue to the whereabouts of the pair. The second fugitive is believed in some quarters to have been John Hammond, a lieutenant in the Dillinger mob.

Two arrests were made by raiding squads of police and federal agents. Chester Fender, a gangster known as "Lefty" Fender, operator of a tavern, both described by police as associates of Nelson, were seized for questioning. Detective bureau agents also searched the home of Nelson's mother and sister, but found no trace of him.

Running Gun Battle Precedes 2 Killings

The search apparently was centered in the north and northwest sections of Chicago and adjacent suburbs, but was also in Minneapolis and St. Paul on the theory the killers might seek a hideout in the Minnesota twin cities.

The killers, who fought a running gun battle with federal agents as they sped along a highway, were in the automobile of the federal officers in a dark blue 1934 sedan bearing an Illinois license. They had baited their own machine and pumped their deadly machine gun bullets at Holles and Cowley when the two stopped from their car and advanced toward the gangsters who drove away.

Holles and Cowley, both of whom were with Federal Agent William Baum when he was slain, allegedly by Nelson, near the Little Bohemia restaurant in Wisconsin, were two men and a woman, the latter believed to be Nelson's wife. She was believed to have been wounded.

Witness Tells of Battle to Death

As the gangsters car roared past the machine in which the agents were riding, the officers saw their machine in pursuit.

"We could hear the roar of the motor and the shot as the men in the second car began shooting at the other," Mrs. Frances Bremer, operator of a gasoline filling station, and a witness to the killing, said.

"Someone in the first car shot back at us before they reached my station the second car pulled ahead of the other on the outside. I heard the shot as the first car screeched as the driver turned into a ally road about 200 feet past the station.

"The second car reversed with it and managed to pull ahead just as the first car was killed."

off the highway, blocking the way of the other car, which slid half into a ditch. Both men had jumped at the same time and faced the other car with what looked like machine guns. They started firing as the two men in the federal car got out.

All four men were using automobiles as shields at first. One of the agents (Cowley) fell over backwards into the ditch. The other dived across the road behind a telephone pole. He dropped a few minutes later."

Gangster Believed Wounded in Fight

Another witness, Robert Taylor, of Barrington park, said that one of the gangsters, apparently Nelson's companion, was wounded in the leg and was able to get on his feet only with great difficulty when the federal agents had ceased firing. Hayford was about 60 yards from the scene at the time and threw himself on the ground to avoid getting hit.

At the smoke of the fight was clearing the gunmen called to their women companions jumped into the federal agents' machine and drove away, leaving behind them their own machine disabled and punctured by bullets.

In making their escape in the agents' machine, the killers duplicated the trick the killer of Agent Baum resorted to when he fled the scene of Baum's death near the Little Bohemia resort in Wisconsin.

Cowley was still conscious when he was taken to an Elgin, Ill., hospital, but Holles died last night. "Did you get Purvis?" Cowley was asked to talk in his bed. "I must talk to him before I die."

Purvis hurried to the hospital and emerged some time later from the operating room, asserting that Nelson was the driver of the killers' machine and that the federal investigators believed that the woman in their machine was Mrs. Betty Gilhe, Nelson's wife.

Frank La Tio, alias "Beverly Frank" and Mark Marston, in questioning in the shooting of Jack Darrish, 23, of Beach street, Revere, police-registered hit-sucker and closest friend of the slay-victim, Steve Siegel, last August.

This message was sent out today by Revere police over the telephone after a move toward obtaining a warrant in today's early shooting had been forestalled by advice of state detectives.

In the telephone message, Revere police revealed that Marston, or La Tio, must have been in Middle street, Portland, the city to which the Siegel killer-car was traced.

Portland police, it was learned, visited the Middle street address today and learned that the room had not been occupied since Monday.

The telephone message was sent by Revere police after three eyewitnesses to this morning's shooting had been questioned, and one of them had identified the handler of the gun by name.

Later, the two men, and the other two had identified a photograph.

28 YEARS OLD

In the telephone message, La Tio was described as a 28-year-old, five feet seven inches tall, weighing 147 pounds and with "black-black hair." Since Monday morning, however, La Tio had had a room at the Hotel Dineen, 100 Middle street, when police called, there was no one in the room. La Tio, police were told, is driving a light-colored car.

La Tio, according to the Revere police message, was charged on a charge of assault and battery on George A. Manollan of Dorchester, middleweight boxer.

Darrish received a bullet wound in the neck as he stood in a cigar store at Shirley avenue, near North Shore road. Two other shots went wild.

In Chelsea Memorial Hospital, Darrish is under police guard today, with a prospect that he will live. He is driving a light-colored car.

One of Siegel's neck, several of which were reported to have been shot down by a shotgun blast through his living room window last summer.

From his hospital cot, Darrish told police that he knew the identity of the men who did the shooting, but he refused to disclose their names.

"I know who did this shooting. They are Revere men. But I am not going to tell their names. I'll settle with them my own way when I get out of the hospital."

The wounded man's wife, who lives at 100 Middle street, Chelsea, said that Darrish received a bullet wound in the neck last night. He would not tell her what it was all about, she said, but declared he was going to sue them in court.

Police said that his assailants have been reported to be in the city since the shooting. They are being sought for their line of fire. He is chatting with friends when the full force of the police is not on him.

Darrish, whose real name, police say, is George A. Manollan, was in 1932 of a daring hi-jacking of a truck load of liquor from a Revere garage. He was sentenced to 18 months in the Worcester house of correction.

'He's a Clever Kid,' Says 'Baby Face's' Sister

By International News Service

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Lester M. Gillis, 37, is "a clever kid."

That is what his family thinks of the man who is known to the world as George ("Baby Face") Nelson, Public Enemy No. 1.

Mrs. Juliette Fitzsimmons, sister of the desperado, living with her mother here, came to the door with the news of her brother's latest escape, the slaying of one federal agent and the fatal wounding of another.

"He's a clever kid," was her comment.

The little girl was Arlene, "Baby Face" Nelson's fourteen-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons went on: "He's able to take care of himself. He wouldn't be captured if they get him, they'll be taking him to a morgue, not to a cell."

Nelson has another child, a five-year-old son. The boy is being kept by another sister in Bremerton, Wash.

Nine Officers Give Lives to Slay Eight Bandits

By Associated Press

Chicago, Nov. 28.—The score in the grim contest between Dillinger gangsters and law officers stood nine to eight in favor of the outlaws today.

The actions of Federal Agents Samuel P. Cowley and Herman E. Holles, punctured by bullets of George ("Baby Face") Nelson, were the eighth and ninth officers to fall in the wake of the desperadoes. The murderous warfare has cost the lives of nine law officers and the wounding of another.

In addition to Cowley and Holles, law enforcement officers who have fallen before Dillinger gang bullets were:

SHERIFF JESS BARBER of Allen County, O., slain by hand firing Dillinger to July 12, 1933.

POLICE SERGEANT W. T. SHANLEY, Chicago, killed Dec. 14, by men identified as John Hamilton and Alvin Karpis.

Police said that his assailants have been reported to be in the city since the shooting. They are being sought for their line of fire. He is chatting with friends when the full force of the police is not on him.

At 2:00 p. m. the officer arrested Cady. He was arrested last Thursday night after his car had collided with another machine.

'Honeymooning' at Work 'SHOOT TO KILL' IS ORDER TO U. S. AGENTS

By Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 28.—The word that Baby Face Nelson's career must be cut short at all costs went out today as the Department of Justice pressed one of the most intensive man-hunts in its history. Agents were told to shoot first.

At the same time it was disclosed that Inspector Samuel P. Cowley, one of two government men who fell before Nelson's gun yesterday, was the actual leader in the sensational coup that eliminated John Dillinger and Charles A. ("Pretty Boy") Floyd.

Even as Cowley died in Elgin, Ill., his superior revealed that it was he who commanded federal squadmen who followed the trails of Dillinger and Floyd until they were cornered and killed. The general impression has been that Melvin H. Purvis was in command.

Although Purvis had charge of the Chicago office of the division of investigation it was Cowley who worked out the plan to capture real powder and ball warfare against the underworld leader who was Purvis' superior.

It was he who rushed into the area after Dillinger and his cohorts, including Nelson, had made their way out of the Chicago Embankment at Slinger Lake, Wisconsin. A. J. "Lefty" Barker, who had been named as Baum's killer. It is the only case in which a Director of the Justice Department agents.

PHURIS LOSES LEADERSHIP

By International News Service

Washington, Nov. 28.—Shocked and embittered by the cold-blooded murder of one of two federal agents, the Department of Justice today declared Hugh H. Clegg, departmental inspector, to be "a clever kid."

The underworld says "Baby Face" Nelson, Public Enemy No. 1, is a "clever kid."

"If this story about the shooting up near Barrington is true, then it is rather another flag for him, for getting away. Of course, maybe it's too bad about the killing, but the old saying is 'An eye for an eye.'"

Arlene, just scuffed her shoes against the door sill, didn't seem interested in a person called "Baby Face" Nelson.

'Among Boston's BEST DRESSED WOMEN

(NO. 3)—Mrs. Gardner W. Bullard

Mother of 4
BUYS CLOTHES
IN BOSTON
STORES

By Margaret D. O'Connell
A mother of four charming children is the third selection of the committee choosing 10 of Greater Boston's best dressed women.

She is tall, slender Mrs. Gardner W. Bullard, of 301 Berkeley street, Back Bay.

Her name was added today to those of Mrs. Robert Farrington, of Newton, and Miss Kathleen Moran, of Marlborough street, the two previously agreed upon by the judges, Mrs. Leland Powers and the artists, John Lavelle and John Whorf.

Thus the married women take a 2-1 lead over the unmarried—but just wait!

With the committee's newest selection I sped to Berkeley street for another "best-dressed" recipe. Mrs. Bullard provided the following:

"Being well dressed means, to me, choosing carefully the proper costume for each occasion, and never appearing to be overdressed. One must be careful in choosing clothes that are both smart and becoming. The wrong line in a gown will often ruin the whole effect."

She was, at the time, starting for the ballet, and her dress was a graphically illustrated of what she calls the "proper costume." It was a black velvet gown, with braided shoulder straps of coral and champagne crepe, that clung to her figure, flowing into a slight train.

Trails Graceful

Mrs. Bullard, a brunette with classical features, is considered one of the most chic of Boston's young matrons.

Mrs. Farrington and Miss Moran had stated their preference for clothes made in the United States.

Mrs. Bullard said: "Do you know that I buy all of my clothes in Boston? I used to buy quite a few things in New York, but now I buy everything I wear right here in my own city."

"I think the clothes this season have been perfectly ravishing and I hope that the evening gowns never change."

When I told her that at the mid-season openings a certain couturier had shown a knee-length evening gown with a long train in the back, she exclaimed:

"Why did they do that? The women have never looked as lovely as they do in the long trailing evening gown. They are so graceful and picturesque. The short gown can never replace a certain elegance that the long line gives."

"For sportswear—yes. Then I think the skirt should be quite short. It loses none of its effect and is infinitely more comfortable."

In inquired whether she liked hair with dinner dresses.

Favors Black

"Decidedly. They are very flattering and many of the new ones are amusing and great fun to wear. In fact, I have just bought one in a tricorn shape very like the hats the Venetian ladies used to wear with a tiny veil, and I'm very fond of it."

"No, I have no favorite type of clothes. After all, every woman demands its own costume, doesn't it?"

"I think my favorite color is black as I seem to wear it a good deal."

Mrs. Bullard has a delightful voice and her music occupies a great deal of her time. Music is her hobby. She is a hockey and football enthusiast and a horse-woman.

(Mrs. O'Connell will on Friday name the committee's fourth selection and will tell you about her and her ideas of clothes.)

FATHER LOSES Award in Death of His Boy Refused

AUNT PROVIDES ALL FIXIN'S FOR HOLIDAY

Old Westbury, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Although poor, little, rich Gloria Vanderbilt today is a "girl without a mother," tomorrow will be Thanksgiving Day for her as it is for all other Americans.

And like most of her countrymen, she will sit down to a dinner of turkey.

But on the table—in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney—there will also be avocado and grapefruit cocktails, clear tomato soup with cream, celery, pickles, jellies, grilled sweet potatoes, scalloped oysters au gratin, creamed cauliflower and endive salad with Roquefort dressing, pumpkin pie, baked Indian pudding, vanilla ice cream, elder, nuts, raisins and mints.

Beside her aunt, five little cousins, all about Gloria's age, will sit down to table with her. There will be an extra table to assist in the serving. And there will be private detectives in the background—keep out unwanted strangers.

Meanwhile, Gloria's mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, will spend the holiday with friends in Washington—afraid to claim her daughter even on the checkbook—allowed her by the court for fear that she will jeopardize her case in the higher courts.

WHEN IS A DIVORCE NOT A DIVORCE? SHE WONDER

Rudy Gets Kissed Stickily, Often

Dog and Girl

CAMERAS CLICK AS CROONER LANDS IN N. Y.

By Associated Press
New York, Nov. 28.—

Rudy Vallee got kissed today, thoroughly, stickily and frequently.

The merry round of osculation began when the orchestra leader arrived from Hollywood on the Twentieth Century Limited.

Himmel Von Reynolds kissed him first, and so did he have done a better job of lathering his master's face. Himmel is a slim, smooth-shaven Doberman-Pinscher, given to unexpressed display of affection and with an extremely agile tongue.

Photographers thought it would be fine if Vallee and Himmel were snapped in the conventional manner—a best-friend pose. Vallee, a study in gray with an orchidaceous tie, thought it would be nice, too.

Trouble Begins

"Ship-up," went Himmel's tongue, scoring a direct hit on his master's face with every thrust.

Soon both kisser and kissee became surfeited with the beating and the pictures were taken.

Under the undisturbed Himmel, at Vallee's girl followed through the crowded spot, to a chorus of squeals and "ahs" from feminine admirers, this girl ran out and snatched up the "dog" from the arms of Vallee and registered a single loud kiss, most of which was on this air.

Himmel Von Reynolds had done much better, ringside agreed.

Quits Prince Countess Leaves for America

By Associated Press
Paris, Nov. 28.—Countess Cavadonga started today for her home in Cuba, leaving the Count behind, after what friends said was a final and futile attempt at a reconciliation.

The beautiful Cuban, for whom the Prince abandoned his right of succession to the throne of Spain, was silent as she left for Cherbourg to sail for home.

Friends, however, said all hope of reconciliation vanished yesterday, when the Countess told her husband that her decision is final, she goes to Miami and thence to Havana.

Will She Have to Remarry Husband?

Whose Mate Is Whose? Mexican Divorces Void

CALIFORNIA RULING TANGLES MANY FILM MARRIAGES

Hollywood, Nov. 28.—Consternation reigned in the film colony today when it became known that the district court of appeals had ruled Mexican "mail order" divorces void.

Who were married to whom became a very real problem among the stars, many of whom were divorced by Mexican courts and have since remarried.

Gloria Stuart, severed from Gordon Newell Blair in Mexico last May, and since married again, will have to go through the wedding ceremony with Arthur Shookman, who she met in California, which does not become final until April.

The court decree tangles many of the best known names in Hollywood, who were parted by Mexican divorces. Among them:

Norma Talmadge and Joseph M. Schenck; Richard Dix and Winifred Cio Dix; Jack Holt and Margaret Wood Holt; Ned Sparks and Mercedes de Calabro; Max Baer and Dorothy Dunbar; Gita Johnson and John Hunsman; Katherine Hepburn and Ludlow Smith; Betty Boyd and Charles Over; Elliott Fair and John Daniel; Nancy Fair and David Dunn; Dorothy Hall and Neal Andrews.

Promotions expected to have been made by Police Commissioner Eugene C. Sullivan, in time for Thanksgiving, now are expected to be delayed until Christmas. The commissioner said that he had not fully decided whom to promote.

By International News Service
Hollywood, Nov. 28.—Found—the "perfect camera faces."

Ray D. MacLean, veteran Hollywood movie photographer, declared that such faces were possessed by Gloria Stuart and Margaret Sullivan, actresses at Universal Pictures studio.

"They possess perfect faces that can be photographed from any angle," MacLean said. "From nose, mouth and hair seem to fit perfectly into the contour of their heads, giving their faces a rhythmic balanced effect that enables the photographer to 'shoot' them with a minimum of study and effort."

Scenes which so shocked 70-year-old detective that he nearly fell out of the tree from which he was peeping, were charged against Mrs. Natalie M. White in her husband's divorce suit in Salem probate court.

The elderly sleuth, Charles S. Cawell, of Lynn, shinnied up a cherry tree so he could get a better view, he testified. Another girl did and testified. Another girl did and testified. Another girl did and testified.

Details of a party in the Winter Norfolk avenue, Swampscott home were relayed by Cawell and his assistant. They said they saw Mrs. White enter the house. Cawell declared:

"Mrs. White did a grass dance in which she squirmed, lolled and wriggled. Another girl did a 'blossom' dance. They poured drinks and I saw Mrs. White and Belovet go into her bedroom."

"I was standing on the railroad tracks near the house. I climbed a tree so I could see better. When Mrs. White came out of the bedroom she was wearing silk undies and a kimono."

HUNDREDS OF NEEDY APPEAL FOR CHRISTMAS BASKETS

MAILS FLOODED WITH REQUESTS FOR BASKETS

Christmas. I am very much in need. I have just come out of the hospital and I have six children and have one in the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary now, and we are very much in need.

My husband is not with me and I have only one son, working on the R.R. and that isn't enough to live on. I need a lot of help and we are very much in need.

FLOOD OF APPEALS
"I do hope you will send me a basket for the sake of the children. We haven't got anything for Thanksgiving, so I look forward to Christmas."

That is only one of the many appeals coming in on every mail. All are pathetic, and there are so many that the editor of the Boston Evening American Christmas Basket Fund has a constant worry as to whether the press can be answered.

Another letter is from a Roxbury neighbor of a man who holds a Navy hero medal but who, apparently, has been too proud thus far to ask aid. For purposes of the fund, this case has been checked as No. 7, and the neighbor's letter follows:

"Here is a case worth considering and investigating. The man who served quite a bit in the navy and was a hero in saving a life while on ship."

"Here in Boston, some time ago, an accident occurred on an auto went over a bridge and a couple of people were locked in the car under the bridge, and this man was one of those who went down to get the bodies."

FATHERS OF FIVE
"Today this man is out of the navy with all kinds of medals and honors and has a wife and five small children. This man has a hard time to feed and clothe his children. They hardly get enough to eat and pay rent and the cold weather is coming, there will be a lot of cold nights for them, as they have no coal."

"This man doesn't want to tell his troubles, but I know what he has done and that he is desperate. He is out of the navy he doesn't know which way to turn."

"I hope and trust you will try and see what you can do for him before the winter comes, as I can see he is pretty well distressed."

This case has been given the number 2, and if any of your good fellows wish to pick it up and take care of it personally, please let me know by the number and you will be given the details and the address.

But the number goes far higher than seven. The cases are piled up and are merely picked at random. They are instances. The fraction of it is that all instances are practically paramount to the rest.

HAPPINESS PLEA
"Tragedy's hand is heavy, and this year its weight is felt on small measure."

You can have either of these letters and take care of the case yourself, or of one case—or if you wish, the Boston Evening American Christmas Basket Fund Editor will be glad to take care of them for you, if you send me your contribution.

Any Goodfellow may have any of the letters received. They will all be checked before they are given out.

Tomorrow will be Thanksgiving Day. There will be a great deal of thanksgiving in many homes. Let us make sure that there will be some happiness in these homes on Christmas Day.

Basket Applications Must Be Approved

In order that Christmas Baskets go only to deserving and needy families, each application must be approved by a priest, a minister or charitable organization. If you wish to apply for a basket, therefore, the signature of these persons is essential.

Do not come to the Boston Evening American office, as it is impossible to personally confer with the many applications. Be sure to give the number of members in the family.

A special effort to reach needy families not receiving city aid is requested. Address all names and lists, as well as contributions to the Christmas Basket Fund, Boston Evening American, 294 Devonshire Street, Boston.

DON'T BE AFRAID OF THE TURKEY!

STUART'S RELIEVES INDIGESTION

THANKSGIVING DAY is eating day—don't let it pass without a turkey. But the turkey is a heavy meal, and it is not unusual for many people to feel indigestion, heartburn, "heaviness" (belching) after the meal. Stuart's is a pure compound of vegetable acids, which acts as a natural cathartic. It is not a medicine, but a natural aid to the digestive system. It is not a medicine, but a natural aid to the digestive system. It is not a medicine, but a natural aid to the digestive system.

ALCOHOLIC CASK SEIZED IN RAID

By Associated Press

Holyoke, Nov. 23.—One of the largest and most elaborate distilling plants ever found in western New England was raided by officers of the alcoholic unit of the Internal Revenue Department today in new buildings located between the city and Easthampton.

Officers from Boston, Worcester and Springfield, totaling about a dozen, made up the squad.

The plant, which officers said had been in operation only a week, was valued at $125,000. The raiders seized between 20,000 and 25,000 gallons of alcohol and some 10,000 gallons of mash.

The close proximity of Mr. Tom was a factor in the discovery of the plant. It was said. Attention was drawn to it by the number and kind of cars which had been seen in the area.

Curiosity of a Boston agent regarding large molasses shipments from that city led to the raid.

The plant was located a mile off the main highway and housed in two large structures and included a large truck which seemed to be a side road and completely disappeared. This was a work ago.

The investigators were able to look down upon the buildings comprising the plant.

Court Sends 'Mackerel Dog' Owner to Psychopathic

Two years ago when Joseph Rizzo and his famous "mackerel dog" Leo, were in court—Leo having been indicted for the murder of a woman—Rizzo was sentenced to a 30-day observation and later placed in an institution.

Today when they were in court again, Judge Michael J. Murray decided the examination had been given to the wrong subject. So he sent Rizzo to the Boston Psychopathic Hospital for 10 days.

This placed Leo on the care of the town and the Animal Rescue League was summoned.

The court appearance of the well known West End pug—Rizzo charged with keeping the same biting dog—was an upsurge of fair which Judge Murray did his little best to keep within the bounds of strict court decorum.

Rizzo appeared with a sign reading "Genuine Nazi" on his back and throughout the hearing, at the most unexpected moments, went into a Nazi or Fascist salute.

He resented the interpreter and spat him away and loudly warned Leo's latest victim, Joseph 'beacon hill'

by Betty Alden

TO CELEBRATE THE EVE of Thanksgiving, there are two very important events on today's social calendar... the first, a wedding at 4 o'clock in Cambridge and the other a large debutante ball at the Somerset Hotel in the evening.

Miss Marian Hubbard Swan, the daughter of Dr. William Donnison Swan of 187 Brattle street, Cambridge, became the bride of Joseph Frank Brown of 114 Marlborough street, at a late afternoon ceremony to which only the immediate families had been bidden... Candies and autumn chrysanthemums were used as a background for the simple ceremony read by the Rev. Francis G. Peabody. Dr. Swan gave his daughter away...

The bride was gown in leaf green crepe with a bodice of silver lace and her flowers were green and brown orchids with lilies of the valley... She was unattended...

Home Reception
A SMALL RECEPTION followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Donnison Swan, Jr., at 1 Channing place, Cambridge... Mrs. Swan chose a gown of cobalt blue crepe for the occasion...

The bride, who is a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club, has been entertained at several very delightful parties, including a buffet supper by Mrs. Swan and a dinner party at which Miss Gladys Smith of Elmwood avenue, Cambridge, was the hostess... Her engagement was announced at a tea at her father's home on September 30...

Mr. Brown is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Brown of Boston... He was graduated from Harvard in 1914 and is a member of the Harvard and Exchange Clubs... After a wedding trip he and his bride will make their home at 167 Brattle street...

We have come so far from the beautiful ceremoniousness of the sumptuous parties of the old prosperity days, sometimes because of the restrictions imposed upon us by the depression but more often due to a changing social psychology, that it is with unexpected pleasure that we encounter again this season a large debutante ball, given with all the formality and brilliancy which attended parties of the old tradition... Quite a few of the presentation parties this fall have launched beautiful debutantes into the world of society amid the eclat and glitter of the old days and a complete abating of the trend toward casualness in modern entertainment...

Eleanor Swift to Make Debut

THE BALL IN THE CREAM and gold ballroom of the Hotel Somerset this evening will honor the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Swift of 17 Commonwealth avenue, Miss Eleanor Swift... Two large dinners at the Hotel will precede the dance, one for the ushers and a group of Miss Swift's debutante friends, and the other for about fifty of Miss Lucile and Miss Ruth Swift's friends... Included among the guests at the latter will be Mr. and Mrs. Williamson Pell, Jr., of New York... Isabel French Scores in Recital

Isabel French, lyric soprano and interpreter of song, and well known and liked in Boston, gave her first recital of the season at Jordan Hall last evening.

With the distinguished accompanist Colius Dougherty at piano, Mrs. French chose a group of compositions which at once set forth her lovely voice at its best. Particularly notable among her more formal numbers were songs from Gluck, Mozart, Lully and Schubert, and in more modern manner works of the Italian composer Puccini, heard for the first time in Boston, of which the Canto Greco, "Mirologio per un bambino," was particularly effective.

Mr. Dougherty, who has had the distinction of serving as assisting artist to Eve Gauthier, of these are being sent to a number of private and public schools which have shown an interest in the project... The concert, on December 8, January 12 and March 2, are similar to a venture sponsored this winter by the Junior League in New York city, which met with great success...

Subscriptions are being received daily for the series... the latest names added to the list being Mrs. Alexander Forbes and Mrs. Henry Forbes of Milton, Mrs. F. S. Delenbaugh, Jr., of Chestnut Hill... Mrs. Richard Frothingham, of Dedham, Mrs. Marcus Morton, Mrs. James A. Garfield and Mrs. Augustus L. Putnam of Boston, Miss Gladys Smith of Cambridge... THANKSGIVING MENUS MAY BE ECONOMICAL

BY MARTHA LEE

Sometimes a social philosopher will write a very interesting book on how our holidays have become associated with material things. Christmas, for example, is forever linked with bauble-bedecked evergreens, the Fourth of July with fireworks and Halloween's with jack-o-lanterns.

And tomorrow's feast of Thanksgiving—the oldest of American holidays and one that brings most especially to New England—is no exception. It is the day of the table. Just say the word "Thanksgiving" and you conjure up visions of a long-covered table, dotted with little slices of silver and porcelain viands, sparkling appetizers and tempting desserts.

NORTH WATER

You make all mouths water with the thought of succulent, rich brown turkey, of cool, crisp celery, of glossy, green olives, of soft, white mountains of mashed potatoes, of cranberries richer than rubies, or pumpkin and mince pies that fill the house with their aroma.

Like the Pilgrim Fathers of old, you may go to church tomorrow morning, but even the most devout piety will not save your prayers from being disturbed by thoughts of the dinner that is to follow, even as the Pilgrims' prayers must have been disturbed by thoughts of their first Thanksgiving feast.

But you will miss out on that dinner, if you don't do your shopping today. Few stores will be open tomorrow morning.

MENUS FOR FOUR

Here are several menus—each one a feast—that have been worked out on a cost basis. Each is designed to serve four persons. And for the benefit of those who do not like turkey or chicken, there is an entrée of meat, pork, bread, butter and staples, such as salt and pepper, are not included. Here are your dinners, and may they taste good.

Speaking of Courses at Medford High, Here's Turkey and Fixin's—for 15 Cents

MADLINE SCHINDLER ALICE V. RILEY CATHERINE MURPHY DOROTHY HOBART

There are worse places than school—especially, Medford high school—at Thanksgiving time. These girl students are sitting down to a pre-holiday turkey dinner at the school, with turkey, fixin's and all for 15 cents. On the menu are turkey pie, stuffing, squash, cranberry sauce, fruit pudding and milk. New Jersey draws a panel of 150, sixty-three of them women, for the Lindbergh murder trial. Women feel more keenly than men do about kidnapping children.

Russia, obstinately refusing to fulfill predictions of an early collapse in her industrial plans, sends out commissions to buy machinery, and can pay for it anywhere in the world, since Russia now produces $150,000,000 of gold each year. One commission will come to the United States, asking for the fastest, most efficient machines we produce.

Russia doesn't know what it is to be frightened by "over-production." Every Russian up to fifty is hard at work, no body allowed to be idle, and there is not enough produced for all.

Big efficient machines are what the Russians want. They bought the biggest hydro-electric turbine ever made from the American General Electric Company, and at the same time Gerard Swope sold to Henry Ford what was probably the biggest steam turbine ever turned out.

Henry Ford said of Gerard Swope, president of General Electric: "He sold me that machine in less than five minutes. He is the best salesman I ever saw." You will observe that Mr. Swope went, himself, to Detroit, which is the best way to sell anything.

The Associated Press says Germany's army and national police forces "are operating under virtual declaration of a state of emergency. The Christmas holidays of soldiers and police have been cancelled."

The emergency is supposed to have nothing to do with France this time. Disagreement between Germany's regular troops and Nazi guards causes anxiety.

Istanbul, which used to be called Constantinople, reports heavy earthquakes, destroying fourteen villages in Kurdistan, a mountainous country in southern Turkey, many killed.

No matter how many it kills, that earthquakes and all other earthquakes will seem unimportant if real trouble breaks out between any two European nations.

PILES

Reduced without surgery!

Refer no more! Ren's relief at last for all forms of Piles—Internal, Hemorrhoids, and Prolapsed. Pan Ointment does all the things necessary. First, it soothes—relieves the soreness and inflammation. Second, it reduces the size of the piles. Third, it binds—dries up the piles. Fourth, it relieves the itching and burning. The gentle blood vessels which are swollen by the piles are now in the normal condition of Piles as a whole.

In other words, Pan doesn't merely relieve the pain, it cures the condition of Piles as a whole.

The method of application makes it doubly effective. Special Pan Pile applicator tube enables you to apply directly high up in the rectum where it will reach all affected parts. Therefore Pan is the only treatment for Piles that is entirely painless and non-injurious. It is a relief of the worst of an operation. Give Pan today and suffer no longer.

RED TAPE BALKS WELFARE FUEL

Several thousand families on Boston welfare faced a fuelless Thanksgiving today because of federal government delay in slashing NRA red tape.

More than a week ago the government contracted with several dealers to supply welfare families with fuel oil and receptacles to hold it.

NRA "unfair competition" restrictions forbade oil dealers from furnishing cans or tanks as loans or gifts.

John C. L. Dowling, executive director of welfare, appealed to Washington to waive the code in this instance since the poor cannot provide their own containers, but no action has been taken.

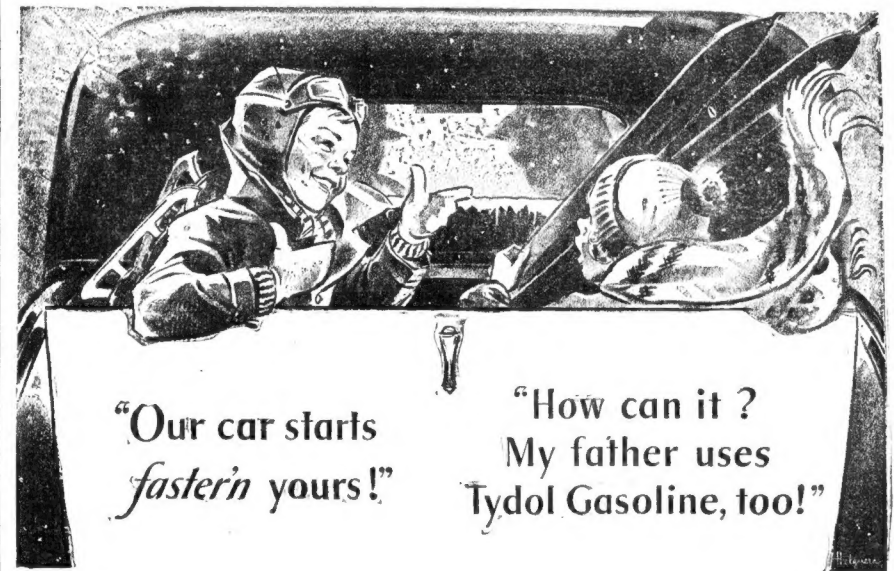

Dealers are ready to make immediate delivery and the need is urgent in cases of many families.

THE song of a dying battery is the slow grind of a motor . . . on a cold morning . . . The dirge of cold metal against cold metal as costly friction eats into upper cylinder walls and warns of repair bills that will follow.

To avoid drain on your battery and damaging wear to upper motor parts, use Tydol, the gasoline that lubricates . . . "ASK THE MAN AT THE PUMP"

VIENNA FEARS NEW PUTSCH BY NAZIS

By Associated Press
Vienna, Nov. 28.—Revolscared Vienna resounded again today to the rumbling of militia as the government guarded against a possible Nazi putch.

Student riots which reached alarming proportions yesterday had subsided, but the pro-German aspect of the demonstrations left officials fearful.

The memory of last summer's daring but defeated Nazi putch which took the life of Chancellor
Dollfus is fresh in their minds.
Steel-helmeted police and auxiliary forces were called on duty to support the already heavy forces of mounted police patrolling the streets.

The student outburst, caused by the recent anti-German riots at the University of Prague, Czechoslovakia, was interpreted as a clear indication that supporters of the Nazi cause in Austria, under cover since Dollfus' assassination, are growing bolder.

After sharp battling, police repulsed the students yesterday when they attacked the Czechoslovak legation. They had already virtually wrecked two Czech-controlled newspaper plants.

West Point Scenes Feature of "Flirtation Walk" Film

While the miraculous is achieved on the movie sets in Hollywood, "Flirtation Walk," which comes into the Metropolitan on Friday, has striking first-hand views of the United States Military Academy at West Point.

The director, the two main stars, Dick Powell and Pat
O'Brien, together with a staff of technical advisers, spent more than two weeks on location at West Point.

Furthermore, when the company repaired to Hollywood to complete the filming of the picture, Colonel Tim Loneragan went along as technical adviser. Indeed, the United States War Department took a hand in the revision of the first draft of the story, and aided the First National studios in planning for the actual West Point shots, which brought many members of the company on their 2000-mile trip to the banks of the Hudson on location.

When Director Frank Borzage and his troupe returned to Hollywood, sections of Hawaii were reproduced on sound stages, and on them Bobby Connolly created and directed the scenes for the "Juke," or island love feast, a colorful and traditional custom.

The other evening I went to a dinner meeting of a small informal club composed of friends of mine who like to talk, and who talk very well and just one another and read verses and keep up in a modest way the tradition of old Boston clubs.

There is always a subject announced in advance, but here it was "Why I am thankful," and for a time the going was pretty hard, I couldn't help smiling a bit to myself to see how hard the gentlemen had

Robert E. Rogers scratches gravel to find something appropriate to say.

The chairman "dons nobles" his hat, a shawl of jokes, anecdote, wit and serious sentiments, and all but getting a grip on out of some of these people was like getting water out of a rock.

They were mostly business and professional people, and Republicans, and either they really didn't have anything to be thankful for, or in the light of the recent election, they refused to admit it.

I mention the election purposely because no matter how the chairman tried to keep the meeting off his feet, the subject kept recurring like King Crockett's head in Mr. DeLoach's office.

In spite of the fact that their recent meeting had dealt with the subject of "Why I am thankful," and the silver standard and the Security Act and the Home Loan Bank, they still were unable to phrase their thanks or lack of thanks in any form that the pleasures or the misadventures of the smiling chairman could

Boston's Fortune

Toward the end of the evening the chairman got very impatient. One was a former architectural student, a government official, and in Boston in a rather influential position concerning the city.

He said, "I am thankful for the fact that Boston has not been hit by the recent election." He said, "I am thankful for the fact that Boston has not been hit by the recent election." He said, "I am thankful for the fact that Boston has not been hit by the recent election."

other was a local man of letters, a lecturer, who had just returned from a swing round the world in the circle of the Middle West and East.

Both of these gentlemen got up and said their feet and told us in no uncertain terms that we here in Boston were ignorant, and that we didn't know enough to be thankful for the fact that Boston had escaped all nothing of the depression, as they had personally seen it in the West this summer.

"Lanzer, Mr. Fox, you don't know what trouble it is!"

They told us of people in the Middle and Southwest starting a second or even a third crop just when we were in the thick of harvesting.

They told of lands denuded by drought and wind, or complete absence of water, of the principal crop burned up, of the makeshift secondary crop to keep them alive, of their relief and gratitude at what Uncle Sam was doing for them above all of their loyalty, their hopefulness, their nervousness, their spirit, their fundamental pioneer-Americanism showing itself at its best today as it did fifty or seventy-five years ago.

Standing Still Here

Said the federal administrator who, like Ulysses, was much enduring and had known many cities and lands.

"You people in Boston have hardly been touched. There has been comparatively little real want, your prosperity hardly depended entirely on your crops, your industries are in reasonably good shape, your banks have been reasonably sound, you have been enjoying something of comparative prosperity."

"And yet your bankers and business men grow and complain and bellyache and curse the administration and hang back and refuse to take any risks or exhibit any initiative which may cost a dollar, with the result that New England is standing still while the rest of the country is going ahead."

"If you could only see the spirit of the West and South and the spirit of the Middle West, those who have little to be thankful for, you would be ashamed of yourselves. They are the ones who are carrying on the real spirit of the Puritan fathers, not our present New England."

The meeting broke up after that. There wasn't much said. Perhaps the lesson wasn't in hope so.

BOASTS Over Rum LOSES

BROKERS' CLUB TO CLOSE LOSES LICENSE FOR ILLEGAL HOUR SALES

The boast that "things were straightened out" resulted in the prompt revocation of the liquor license of the Brokers' Club at 117 Water street today by the Licensing Board.

The incorporators of the club had been called to the board's offices in Beacon street in connection with an investigation to determine whether the license issued to them had been transferred to new owners.

During the course of the hearing Charles J. Knox, of 31 Boston street, Jamaica Plain, testified that he had been "forced out" of the club and was unable to take the sale of intoxicants after one month.

He also said that on one occasion the police entered the place and found liquor being sold after the local hour.

"However," he added, "things were straightened out."

As that statement was made, Sergeant Patrick Flannery, assigned to leave the room a few minutes later he was back and said that Captain Joseph McKinnon in command of the Milk Street station, had ordered him to deny the implication and to request the permanent revocation of the club's license.

Without going further into the point of ownership of the premises, the board ordered the license of the club to be canceled.

The board today also took action against three Shawmut avenue restaurants that were said to sell 10 per cent liquor and 5 per cent food, filling the street with inebriated women.

Two of the places—those of Moses Miloff and Solomon Moss—were ordered changed to taverns. Demetrius Lamberson, whose establishment is at 227 Shawmut avenue, was permitted to keep his restaurant license, but was instructed to sell no liquor after 5 p. m. or on Sundays.

Dictator! Doles News To Press

TWO GIRLS HIT BY AUTO NO STORY SAYS CENSOR

With considerable surprise, it was discovered today that the Boston Police works and Police Commissioner Huttman created the Bureau of Operations, for better liaison between the press and as a central bureau for disseminating news.

Lieutenant Thomas Connolly was made head of the bureau.

Today it was discovered that two three-year-old girls had been struck by a truck and injured yesterday in Hilders street. One is Anna Goode of 51 Dalton street, and the other Ruth Hall of 124 Dalton street.

The story, which might have the result of gaining better police protection for children in that street, was not given out by Connolly, who, when quizzed about it, said: "I'm detailing the news here. That wasn't news."

T. B. PATIENTS FIGHT HOLIDAY BAN ON KIN

"For the good of the patients," Thanksgiving Day visitors to the Middlesex County sanatorium for the tubercular have been banned. Dr. Sumner Remick, superintendent of the hospital said today.

At the same time it was learned that the order had provoked petitions of protest and that some of the men patients threatened "hunger strike" measures on the strike.

Two of the patients declared that they would go on a hunger strike if they were not permitted to have relatives or friends.

A letter from the hospital board, dated Nov. 20, said that the only one of six or seven who had been allowed to visit was Dr. Remick, and that the hospital board would not permit any other visitors.

Dr. Remick said he had received several letters from the patients, and that he was known to the patients. But he said that the patients were not to be visited by any other persons.

Ban Stands

Despite the petition for a visitor ban stands, Dr. Remick said today.

"I have decided that it is for the best interest of the patients. I feel that the excitement of visitors on the holiday would be too much."

Instead of allowing visitors, I have issued permission for patients to mingle among themselves and visit back and forth. We are to have a turkey dinner and music for them in the evening.

Dr. Remick readily agreed to the request of the patients for the best interest of the patients. He said that the patients were not to be visited by any other persons.

By Walter Kiley
We present today New England's All-Star cast of 1934 college footballers.
As hosts the outstanding team of New England, Yale places four men on the team; Holy Cross follows with two; Boston College, Trinity, Tufts, Harvard and Dartmouth with one each.

The ends are Kelley and Train of Yale; tackles, Kellam of Tufts and Woodward of Tufts; guards, Moran of Holy Cross and Gundlach of Harvard; center, Ray of Dartmouth, quarterback, Weston of Yale; half-backs, Quinn of Boston College, right half, Hohn of Holy Cross, and fullback, Whitehead of Yale.

Jerry Roscoe was not only the class of New England but of the East as well. It was his generalship and sharp passes which brought the downfall of Princeton, Harvard and Dartmouth.

Bob Haley of Harvard, Rex Brown of Dartmouth and Billy Croes, and the late Ray Pelletier of Northeastern were other good pilots.

Bobby Curran, Jim Hohn and Kim Whitehead, together with Roscoe, make a well-rounded quartet.

The Associated Press will acknowledge in three columns Saturday.

The Herald Tribune will publish it Tuesday.

The Washington Post will publish it Wednesday.

So that, all in all, there isn't a weakness among the four, of necessity or defensively.

Trinity Tackle Scored Six Touchdowns

It is hard to ignore such backs as Morris of Holy Cross, Jackson of Harvard, Prentiss of Princeton, Fredrich, Hingston and Keith of Tufts, Kobrosky of Trinity, McManis and Pattison of Boston University, Nairne of Princeton, and the great back line of the Northeasterners, Spicely of Brown, Dennis of New Hampshire, Stewart of Mass. State and McAl of St. Anselm's, but there is room for a few more backs on the two New England teams.

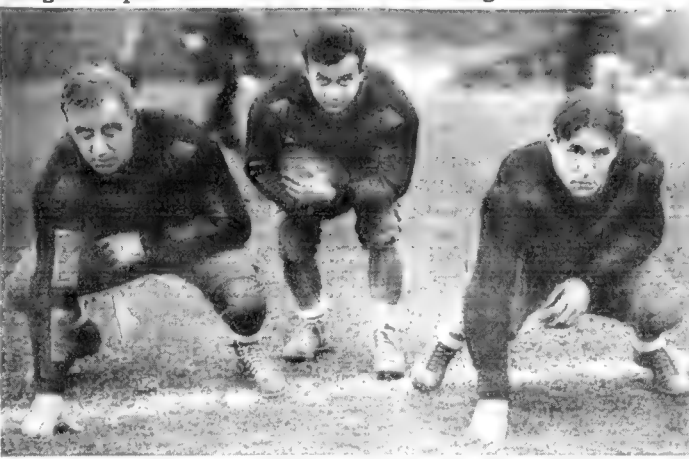

Yale's two scintillating ends get the call. Larry Kelley, on the end of those Roscoe passes, has been the most sensational, but Bob Train has been the more steady.

[illegible]

Jim Moran of Holy Cross, 204 pounds and standing six feet two inches, was undoubtedly the finest guard in the East and the most improved player of the year.

Captain Herman Gundlach of Harvard was ever steady, many times brilliant. Never once in a

EAGLES DEPART 200,000 to See Schoolboy Games

REPEAT

By Bill Connell

By Walter Kiley

Three times in past years has the American League returned to Sandusky Country Club for its pre-season "Crack game" tournament. And each time the Eagles have found it a truly memorable event.

So as Joe McKenney and I head back for the Walcott area to coach the 21-man Sandusky team, we'll be in the club the week of Sunday, Jan. 14, when the two parties meet Saturday afternoon.

McKenney has a two-fold purpose in the Thanksgiving holiday

By Bill Connell

During the winter, the 21-man Eagles team, the school football squad and the Sandusky High basketball team will have the performance of the season minus one morning, before more than 200 fans.

No letters hang in the balance. No players have been traded yet and only Lawrence and Ruston are expected to be traded. The Eastern part of the state is no longer heated. If the games offer thrill and excitement, it's over.

This season there have been no trades, no suspensions, no no-peat team. Thus the competition has been closer than the other years. The Eagles are the team in the Thanksgiving struggle for the title. It's not yet the end of the season, but the Eagles are the

New York, Nov. 28.—A spectacular five-minute battle in utility stocks on the decision of a federal judge at Birmingham ruling that the Federal Trade Commission has no jurisdiction with private ownership over the nation's power companies, sent soaring deals in the key utilities.

Such leaders as Consolidated Edison, American Electric Power, United Gas Improvement and American Waterworks ran up as much as 10% in the first hour, and net gains of from fractions to more than a point.

RAILROADS

Industrial shares were in demand with such issues as General Electric, Westinghouse and American Can, all of which advanced 1% to 1 1/2 points. The strength in American Can was due to the announcement of a $1 extra dividend yesterday, first since 1931. United States Steel, which had been a favorite of investors, was in fair demand, shares were in fair demand, rose moderately.

Utility shares were retarded somewhat by scattered profit taking, which persisted during most of the afternoon. American Pacific managed to make full use of the uptick in the market, however, and the upshot was that Wabash, Southern Railway and Western Central did little more than hold.

Building shares enjoyed a rally but consistent demand during the session under the leadership of John Manville. Aviations were moderately higher as were farm implements. Merchandising shares were irregular because of the settlement in the New York shares over the sales tax.

"The American Communist Party must be improved and Bolshevized. For that end we must work in order to forge real revolutionary cadres and a real revolutionary leadership of the proletariat, capable of leading the many millions of the American working class toward the revolutionary class struggles."

Nicaragua Canal

We Need This Second Waterway to Aid Navy and Commerce

IT is almost a hundred years since the United States Senate adopted a resolution favoring the construction of an isthmian canal across Nicaragua.

For forty years the project has been earnestly and persistently advocated by the House of Representatives.

Eighteen years have elapsed since the signing of a treaty granting to the United States in perpetuity the exclusive right to construct and operate a Nicaragua Canal.

In recent years there have been surveys and reports, but no practical progress.

If anything, America was politically nearer to a beginning on the waterway in 1916 than it has been at any subsequent period.

The World War forced us to think in terms of the need of an additional isthmian canal, and hastened the signing of the Bryan-Chamorro Treaty. There are even better reasons for thinking in these terms today.

The World War was none of our business until we made it so. We could have kept out of it, as we should keep out of future foreign wars on foreign soil, but the only way to keep foreign wars out of America is for America to be fully prepared, and an additional inter-oceanic canal is a necessary form of preparedness.

THE better able we are to defend ourselves the less likely we are to be attacked.

Two canals are better than one, not only for commerce, but for the national defense.

How necessary they are for defense purposes may be judged by the inhibition with which foreign troops may pass through the alleged "failure" of the American fleet to pass through the Panama Canal in twenty-four hours last April.

It is not officially recorded that any such attempt was made, and without an attempt there could have been no failure, but that unfriendly inhibition was not without effect.

It served to remind us that if our Navy were that it ought to be for our safety, it might take several days to pass through the Panama Canal, and that would not be safe.

With two canals the Navy could pass from ocean to ocean in half the time now required, and that part of it passing through the Nicaragua Canal would save several hundred miles on the Journey between ports on the Atlantic and Pacific.

THE United States should have a navy SECOND TO NONE, and with it would go the need of a SECOND CANAL.

We are not a signatory to any treaty limiting our rights to canal construction.

NOW is the time for a SECOND CANAL FOR DEFENSE. NOW is the time for a SECOND CANAL FOR COMMERCE. AND NOW is the opportunity for achieving two major purposes with the one project: building the Nicaragua Canal for the necessities of defense, and building it to help meet the emergency of unemployment and business depression.

The money spent would be for American labor and American machinery and materials.

Whatever the cost, it would be far cheaper than spending the same amount of money on relief, and infinitely cheaper than the losses that might be suffered in a foreign attack invited by inadequate preparedness.

More Thankful Now Holiday Has Significance

MANY thousands of people in New England will be more thankful on the nearing Thanksgiving Day than they were a year ago.

The reason? Because things have improved a whole lot. They could be better.

But, looking backward, we are very thankful indeed that they're as good as they are.

Days of thanksgiving are traced far back into antiquity. Because the Pilgrim Fathers had such a day, it is entitled to be called the oldest American holiday.

Long may we have occasions to be thankful.

Let us remember that the Pilgrim Fathers sailed into Plymouth to BREAK AWAY FROM FOREIGN ENTANGLEMENTS.

And don't let any glib-tongued orators convince you that it might be a good thing to get mixed up with Europe's muddled affairs again.

These entanglements cost us money and lives. And leave NO cause for thanksgiving!

Their Good Deed Done Children Help Needy Ones

Amesbury children recently followed the Boy Scouts' plan of doing a good deed for the day. And it was a very good deed, done on a big scale.

With a moving picture house as the central point, they brought thirty barrels and scores of boxes of food for the needy. It was Amesbury's second annual "vegetable show."

A timely event that would bear repeating in other public-spirited communities.
